Jayne Jackson invented the Tupper Hair Parties to beat the recession and now she wants women across the country to start swapping and help to raise thousands of pounds for people with dementia. "It's so simple" says Jayne.

Jayne recommends

- at least 10 people partake in a Tupper Hair Party.
- each person to bring a minimum of 4 products and/or styling tools.
- each person donates a minimum of £3.50
- check products to be traded haven't passed their shelf life

Jayne Jackson's 10 steps to Tupper-Hair

- 1) Invite as many friends and family as possible, I recommend a minimum of 10 people.
- 2) Tell each participant to bring at least five hair care/styling products they no longer use, eg shampoos, rollers, curling tongs etc.
- 3) Make sure products people are wishing to trade haven't passed their shelf life, which is usually 18 to 24 months after purchase.
- 4) Decide on the venue of the Tupper Hair Party.
- 5) Get a couple of bottles of wine if it's an evening affair or pop the kettle on if it's a day time do.
- 6) Everyone places their redundant hair gear on a table or in the centre of the room.
- 7) Everyone gives a brief run-down on each product they want to trade and what they're after in return
- 8) Let swapping commence! Any products left over can be used for another Tupper-Hair party
- 9) The host collects a minimum of £3.50 from each person.
- 10) Send the money collected to Lost Chord

JAYNE JACKSON'S TUPPER HAIR PARTIES

Exchange all your redundant styling gear including hair care products at a party which I'm organising to raise funds for Lost Chord. This is a charity dedicated to helping people who struggle to live with dementia.
